

Megon McDonough Bio

Megon McDonough is a nationally known singer-songwriter who has been performing around the country for more than four decades and has performed on stages as varied as Carnegie Hall, The Birchmere, The Wolf Trap and more. Best known as an inaugural member of the group The Four Bitchin' Babes, Megon delights audiences with her mixture of heartfelt and humorous songs and she has 15 solo albums to her credit. She currently tours with her show "Dedicated to the Ones I Love: Great Women Singers of the '50s, '60s and '70s," a show that honors the greatest women singers of a generation, and performs entertainment for corporate workshops and events. Find more information at www.megonmegon.com.